FURTHER DETAILS OF THE HORROR

English Navel Men Are Ready and Anxious To Receive Orders to Start in Pursuit of the Russian Fleet.

[Special by Scripps-Mellie.]
Hull, Eng., Oct. 24.—Only one vessel arrived this morning from the scene of the attack by the Russian fleet on the fishing vessels. The latest reports state the Russians fired three hundred shots at a quarter of a mile. The mayor of Hull has telegraphed Premier Balfour requesting the government to "take the speediest and strongest measures possible to ensure a full redress and complete security against any further Russian outrages." Six of the fishing boats have not yet reported. It is now definitely reported that the Wren went down with all on board.

Russia's Side
London, Oct. 24.—The Russian embassy has issued the following statement regarding the North sea incident: "Admiral Rodzestvensky undoubtedly is not responsible for the order to fire, as he had gone ahead with the first section of the fleet. The fact probably is the fact did not see the lights of the fishing fleet, and mistook the rocket fired from one of the travelers for a hostile signal. The fact that the fleet steamed away after firing probably is due to the belief that no damage was done. We are compelled to await news from St. Petersburg before we can explain the matter fully."

Fleet Ready
Portsmouth, Eng., Oct. 24.—A strong fleet of British warships, together with several torpedo boat destroyers, are ready to sail on a few hours' notice. There is great eagerness among the officers and crews for orders, but these have not yet arrived.

Fleet Has Orders
Gibraltar, Oct. 24.—The British channel fleet arrived off here this morning. An officer immediately boarded the flagship with dispatches.

Still Moving
London, Oct. 24.—At 12:15 today the Russian fleet passed Alderney Island in the English channel off the coast of Normandy.

London, Oct. 24.—After a conference at the foreign office, Lansdown sent a strongly worded message to Ambassador Scott at St. Petersburg for delivery to the Russian government. The foreign secretary is now in conference with Admiral Fisher, first lord of the admiralty.

Held to Facts
St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs, and British Ambassador Scott held a lengthy conference this afternoon.

Wren Is Safe
Hull, Oct. 24.—The fishing vessel Wren is now reported as safe.

One Boat Gone
Copenhagen, Oct. 24.—The Russian ice-breaker Ernak arrived in the Roads in a damaged condition.

Stopped Vessel
Portsmouth, Oct. 24.—The report is confirmed that the Russian Baltic fleet stopped and searched merchantmen off the Isle of Wight.

Britons Cry for War
British civilians are beseeching the war office and the admiralty to send the English fleet in pursuit of the Russian squadron and wipe it out. The officials are silent. Meantime the Russians have passed the Strait of Dover and the English channel.

Premier Balfour admits the situation is grave.

News of the attack on the Gamecock fishing fleet first came from Hull. Later the steam tug Maize, belonging to the Gamecock fleet, two of whose trawlers were sunk by the Russian Baltic fleet, arrived in the Thames. Capt. Penker of the Maize confirmed the details of the story received from Hull.

"Friday night," said Capt. Penker, "there were about forty vessels of the Gamecock fleet fishing in latitude 55 degrees 15 minutes and longitude 5 degrees 5 minutes. It was a misty, drizzling night. We spread over an area of some miles."

"Our admiral had just previously signaled by rockets and colored lights the fishing direction for the night. Whether that had anything to do with what followed I do not know; the whole thing is a mystery."

Russians Fire on Boats
"Presently through the mist there appeared the lights of many vessels big and small. Knowing that the Baltic fleet was en route, we naturally assumed that they were Russians, but I can not say so for certain. They were signaling one another and with powerful searchlights spied out every one of our fleet."

"Suddenly some of the warships started firing at about twenty boats which were nearest to them. We at first supposed they were blank shots and the boatswain of the Tomit, which was close in, held two big fish out at arms' length. Some say no was offering them to the Russians in fun and others that he meant to acquaint the Russians with the fact that we were peaceful fishermen and not disguised enemies."

Knew They Were Fishermen
"In any case, there was no mistaking our occupation, for we were close enough for the Russians to see that our men were all engaged in cleaning fish. When we realized that the Russians were firing shot and that men were being wounded all became terror and confusion. Nets were cut away, steam was got up and the trawlers hurried away as fast as possible."

"Judging by the rapidity of the shots, they were from quick-firing guns. I have seen some of the shots embedded in the boats. They are about the diameter, but not the length of a big cucumber and have brass heads."

"What with the darkness, the rain and the glare of searchlights, we were unable to identify the warships. After about half an hour the firing suddenly ceased and the fleet steamed away, speedily in the direction of the English channel."

Skipper Is Decapitated
"The one of our fleet to suffer most was the trawler Crane. Its skipper's head was completely blown off by a shot, and another killed the mate, slicing off half his head from chin to hair. All of the crew of six were wounded and the deck presented a shocking sight, with blood all about, the headless trunk of the captain and the ghastly body of the mate and wounded men lying about in such places as they had managed to crawl to. One man and woman were taken off just in time, for she foundered a few minutes later. She had great holes in her sides, through which the water rushed in a torrent."

Trawlers Are Damaged
"Several other trawlers were damaged. The Mino had eight or nine shots between wind and water and the crew had to stuff bedding into the holes to keep her afloat."

"When I left there three or four trawlers had not been accounted for and they may have gone to the bottom."

"It is useless for anyone to think that torpedo destroyers could be got up to look like trawling vessels. The whole build of our fleet is quite distinctive and easily recognized. Each boat carried her lights as required by the rules. I think the Russians lost their heads and blazed away and in the confusion then steamed off when they got no reply and knew us to be harmless fishing folk."

Is Act of War
Foreign Minister Lansdowne and M. Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador, both were out of town Sunday and the government offices in London were closed as usual and no official view could be gleaned of the firing by Russian war vessels on the British fishing fleet. The first reports of the affair received in London were regarded as almost incredible."

When, however, cumulative evidence no longer left doubt of the general accuracy of the reports, astonishment became bewilderment as to what possible motive could have led Russian officials into such an extraordinary and inexplicable course of action, which, unless a satisfactory explanation is immediately forthcoming, could only be regarded as an act of war."

Such is the view taken editorially by all the morning papers.

M. Sazonoff, one of the officials of the Russian embassy, expressed deep regret for the North sea incident. He was convinced, he said, that the unfortunate event was the result of accident. If there had been firing it could only have been due to suspicion of some hostile attack on the fleet."

No Effort at Rescue
The worst feature of the story, as viewed here, is the heartlessness displayed by the Russian fleet in steaming away without taking the trouble to ascertain whether their fire had inflicted any damage and without any effort to rescue the victims."

While admitting the necessity of a suspension of judgment for investigation and explanation, the papers are unanimous in demanding that the government instruct Ambassador Harding to make the strongest representations to the St. Petersburg government and obtain reparation and apology and assurances of the Baltic fleet's good behavior in the future."

Might Have Thought Them Japs
It is held that the omission of the Russian fleet to stay its course down

Uncle Sam (looking over his ledger)—By the Great Horn Spoon, there has been some remarks made about my Yankee shrewdness.

The channel to offer an explanation make the case look exceedingly grave, and the only possible solution of the mystery that has been suggested is that excited by rumors recently spread of Japan's intentions on the Pacific squadron in the event of its sailing, the Russian gunners yielded to panic and supposed that the trawlers' rockets were the signals of an enemy's fleet."

In view of the decision in the Alton case it is regarded as impossible that the St. Petersburg authorities can in any way be responsible for the incident.

Satisfaction Is Demanded
Considering the circumstances in the case the newspapers treat the matter with commendable calmness, but are firm in demands for immediate satisfaction. The Chronicle says: "The next twenty-four hours must settle it one way or the other. Only two modes of settlement are possible. Either explanation, apology and generous compensation to the victim's families, or an ultimatum."

The Standard says: "An explanation should be promptly and sternly demanded for the intolerable outrage. The Russian government should be informed that it is expected to recall its ill-starred squadron—first, order that proper investigation may be held, and, second, to keep it out of harm's way for the future."

Madison, Wis., October 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meier of this city are much concerned of the whereabouts of their 14-year-old son, Maltheus, who disappeared about three months ago and has not been seen since. Every effort has been made by the local police to locate him in Chicago but to no avail. The lad is of small stature, has dark hair and is heavy set. He was always in a happy mood and his parents are at a loss to understand why he left home. It is said that he is working on a large ranch out west but his relatives do not believe it.

JEALOUS MAN
SLAYS WIFEElgin Man Plans Pleasure Party as Prelude to Ending Lives of Two Persons.

HE INVITES HIS FRIENDS TO DRIVE

Asks His Victim To Quit Their Companions Whom He Induces To Leave Them on Roadside—
Then Kills Her.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 24.—Starting on a pleasure drive with a party of friends and promising all a good time, Frank Loos of this place turned a merry occasion into a tragedy by shooting and killing his wife and then firing a bullet into his own brain.

Loos is at the Sherman hospital, in a precarious condition. Deputy sheriffs are at his bedside. His chances of recovery are regarded as slight, and even if he lives it is believed his reason will be lost.

The killing took place on a main traveled road two and a half miles east of Elgin late Saturday night. The news of the shooting did not reach Elgin until early Sunday morning, when the police took the body of Mrs. Loos and her unconscious husband into town.

Had Planned the Tragedy.
Loos and his wife, together with three friends, were taking a moonlight drive in the country. One of the friends was Charles Baldwin, a well-to-do retired farmer, and because he was jealous of his wife's attentions to Baldwin, it is believed, Loos sought to kill both himself and wife. Loos had purchased a revolver and, according to testimony at the inquest, had planned the moonlight drive with the deliberate intention of closing it in tragedy.

After driving around Elgin for an hour the party left the town and followed the Chicago street road into the country.

"I'm feeling fine tonight," Loos announced as they rode through the cool night air. Then he turned to Baldwin. "How are you feeling, Charles?" he asked.

Loos evidently was in a gay mood and constantly was provoking the merriment of the party with his jokes. Mrs. Loos was also light-hearted and talked and laughed with Baldwin and with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chester, who were the other members of the party. Suddenly, as they neared a bridge over Poplar creek, Loos halted the carriage.

Husband and Wife Quit Party.
"Frances," he said, "I want to speak to you a moment." Then giving the reins to Mrs. Chester, he stepped out, assisted his wife down and bade the others drive on for a short distance.

Without suspicion they did so, leaving Loos and his wife in the road together. When they had driven fifty rods they were startled by four shots, and hurriedly drove back. Loos and his wife were lying by the roadside, the husband across the wife's body. Mrs. Loos was dead, with two wounds in her right cheek. A bullet hole above Loos' right eye showed he had tried to end his life. His revolver still was clutched in his hand.

Baldwin and the Chesters hurried back to Elgin. Chief of Police J. W. Younger hastened to the scene and the man and his wife's body were brought back in an ambulance. Loos was taken to the hospital, where Dr. W. S. Brown and Dr. A. B. Sturm probed for the bullet in an attempt to save the man's life.

GREAT ARMIES EXCHANGE SHOTS IN THE BATTLES

Almost Constant Bombardment of the Artillery of the Two Rival Forces.

Fight Is Waging.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—There is no change in the relative positions of the armies on the Shkabo river. Gen. Sakharoff telegraphs that the Russians have been bombarding Lamutung and the Buddhist temple at Linshupin, while the Japanese have been shelling the Russian position at Shkabo and near Linshupin.

A dispatch from Mukden reports that the Japanese are fortifying an important height south of Shkabo, and that neither side shows a disposition either to advance or retire. Another dispatch from the Russian front says the situation is not yet ripe for the resumption of the offensive.

This meager but significant admission, all that the censor allows to pass over the wires, doubtless indicates that Gen. Kouropatkin is studying important plans and distributing his forces in readiness for another attempt to break the Japanese resistance.

The roads are now dried out by wind and frost. The cold is intense, and flooded fields have been frozen. Thus military movements are facilitated, though at the same time it will be more difficult to carry on intrenching work.

Attempt to Flank the Japs.
A dispatch from the Russian front gives a rumor that the Russian force has made a detour to the west, arriving abreast of Liao-Yang, but there is no confirmation of this report.

Great importance, too, is attached to a report from Tokio that 200 Russians have crossed the Taitse river east of Benschu, and that 20,000 are concentrated at Kanta pass, twenty miles northeast.

This may indicate the direction of Kouropatkin's next blow, or possibly it is intended to disconcert the Japanese and compel them to weaken their force on the railroad. Whatever Kouropatkin's ultimate object may be there is no doubt that he is desirous of obtaining the most reliable information as to the number and disposition of the forces opposing his eastern flank. The Cossacks may be relied upon to harass the Japanese line of communication besides reconnoitering.

Kouropatkin With Center Army.
Gen. Kouropatkin is with the center of his army. On Oct. 21 he personally conveyed the congratulations of Emperor Nicholas to Col. Poutiloff and the Nineteenth rifles for the capture of Lone Tree hill.

The Japanese estimate that the Russian losses in the battle of Shkabo amount to 60,000 is not confirmed here.

A telegram from Harbin reports the passage north of 26,000 wounded. The remainder, who are quartered in hospitals at Mukden, cannot exceed a few thousands.

Lieut. Gen. Rozy, commanding the Twenty-first infantry division, has been appointed to the command of the Nineteenth army corps of the Vilna district. This appointment is believed to indicate the inclusion of the Nineteenth corps in the second Manchurian army.

The return of Grand Duke Nicholas to St. Petersburg has evoked no comment, and there is no further talk of his appointment to the chief command in Manchuria.

Renew Port Arthur Attack.
Chefoo, Oct. 24.—The Japanese on the afternoon of Oct. 16 resumed their attack on the Russian outer works at Rihling mountain. After four hours' fighting they succeeded in capturing a number of the Russian trenches and one small hill. It is the belief that a general assault on Port Arthur will be made soon.

Business Women Form League.
St. Louis, Oct. 24.—An organization to be known as the Business Women's National League has been formed at a meeting of business women from various parts of the country held in the women's anchorage at the World's Fair. Mrs. Louise Lee Harding of Denver was elected president.

IMPORTANCE OF THE LABORATORY

MORE THOROUGH INVESTIGATION POSSIBLE NOW.

TO STUDY BACTERIA GERMS

Careful Investigation of All Diseases Germs in the University Begin.

Madison, Wis.—The increasing importance of bacteriological and hygienic investigation not only for members of the medical profession but also for the general public is being recognized by the University of Wisconsin in the development of the department of general bacteriology and hygiene. While courses in these subjects have been given in the past, for the first time this year the department takes on an entirely separate existence and has been provided with adequate laboratories and equipment for general instruction in this subject. Courses of study are now provided both for the student in pre-medical, agricultural, and home economic courses.

The new laboratories consist of a suite of nine rooms, occupying the entire fourth floor of South Hall, and are equipped with all the apparatus necessary for the various kinds of bacteriological and hygienic investigations. There is a large laboratory for the general students; a lecture room, provided with lantern slides of all the important forms of bacteria, which in this way, may be magnified upon the screen many million times; a "kitchen" where the several media used in the culture of bacteria are prepared, and where the specimens of the various organisms are kept; an incubator room, in which bacteria that is being cultivated may be maintained at a uniform heat usually that of the human body for an indefinite time. The other portions of the building are taken up with small research laboratories for advanced students, a students' library and reading room, and Professor Frost's office and private laboratory. The floor above has been fitted up with pens and cages in which are raised guinea pigs, white mice, and rabbits which are used for purposes of inoculation. The equipment of the department also includes samples of the several anti-toxins, vaccines, and other materials used in bacteriological demonstration.

The department provides courses of both a general character and of an advanced nature for students desiring to pursue particular branches of independent research work in this field. There are several distinctly non-technical courses of lectures and demonstrations, including one of the nature of communicable diseases and their cause and prevention; and one in general hygiene in which is considered the hygienic aspects of water, air, and food supplies, and the disposal of sewage. A considerable number of students who are taking the general course in liberal arts, elect these non-technical courses in bacteriology and hygiene. The student who is preparing to take up the study of medicine, devotes most of their attention to the study of medical bacteriology. In the course of which they become familiar with the appearance and peculiarities of the various pathogenic or disease-producing micro-organisms; with the nature and action of the several vaccines and anti-toxins which in recent years have been so extensively used in the prevention and cure of germ diseases.

The research work which is being carried on by the advanced students is of particular interest and is developing some important scientific results. During the past year, for example, one student has been working upon the number and distribution of the micro-organisms causing pneumonia, and has shown that not only the known fact that they are found frequently in the mouths of people in normal health, but also that their number in the mouths of such people varies at different times of the year, and that they are present in larger numbers among people engaged in outdoor occupations than among those engaged in indoor occupations. Another student developed some important information in regard to the conditions favorable and unfavorable for the micro-organism producing dysentery and the results of this investigation will be published shortly. Another student is investigating the number and character of bacteria in the ordinary telephone transmitter. Thus besides giving the student training in methods of investigation the research work in the laboratory is producing results of scientific importance.

The growing importance of the study and application of bacteriological investigation to fields of activity besides that of medicine has resulted in students in other professional courses being required to spend some time in the laboratory of bacteriology. The course for the students of agriculture for example, provides for at least one semester of laboratory work in bacteriology, for recent investigations in the bacteria of the soil in relation to fertility, as well as the importance of various forms of fermentation in different departments of agriculture make necessary the knowledge of this subject and the methods for those intending to engage in scientific farming. The young women students in home economics likewise will be required to pursue an elementary course in this subject, and this year for the first time such a course will be offered, dealing with the several forms of fermentation, the importance of sterilization in relation to preserving, and the more general sanitary and hygienic aspects of bacteriology in relation to the economy of the home and its environments.

The new laboratories with their excellent equipments and the additional courses of study given, offer such excellent opportunities for the students both in general courses and in professional courses, that the department of general bacteriology and hygiene will doubtless prove one of the strongest of the scientific departments of the University.

COACHES MAKE A FEW CHANGES NOW

No More Secret Practices at Which Students Are Barred From Seeing.

There is no fear in Madison football circles in contemplation of the first "big nine" western intercollegiate football game with Michigan here next Saturday. Some Wolverine money has arrived at easy prices and Badger fraternity men have covered it and called for more.

Coaches Curtis and Cochems are finishing the preparation of a style of aggression designed especially for an attack on the star Michigan tackle. While this style is announced as "new" it is described as a massing of players behind the line for short plunges over the tackles. Otherwise the newness of the system is not disclosed.

Some secret practice, a great student mass meeting to learn rosters and songs and plan systematic Wisconsin noise and hard work by the players until Thursday, followed by lighter training are the features of the coming week. What secret work will be held will be brief and will follow the regular open practice, it having been determined that secret practice with the absence of opportunity for the students to observe and entourage of the playing is disastrous to the aggressiveness that is essential to a winning team. Practice behind closed gates was begun at Madison this season even before the opening of the university and the result was that few earnest football rosters followed the fortunes of the team and the players grew indifferent and lazy. Then coach Curtis reversed the order held practice in the open on the small lower campus, instead of at distant Camp Randall a mile away from the college buildings, and made a speech to the students declaring that unless they attend the daily exercises and encourage the players to work hard for the place on the team, it would be impossible to turn out a winning or even creditable eleven. Consequently, while some secret work is deemed necessary, it will be confined to short sessions, following the open work at signal work in the gymnasium in the evenings.

One change made with much promise in the policy of the Wisconsin play is that of attempting to block kicks. The team has been drilled in charging the punter or drop kicker, and not only in the hope of blocking the kick, but of making it so unpleasant for the kicker as to impair the power and effectiveness of the boot work. Since the departure of Phil King as coach of Wisconsin, the blocking of kicks in the big game, has not been attempted here, because of the advice of Trainer O'Den who said it was useless and very dangerous physically to the players. The results of the training in this regard during the past week are gratifying.

It is reported that $1,500 of Michigan money came to Madison from Ann Arbor to be placed at three to one on the Wolverines. The report says it came to a Greek letter fraternity house and was covered there by about $500, but this is difficult to verify. However, there is a brisk demand for Michigan money here and a goodly amount would be covered at even prices if it would make its appearance. Odds of two to one are offered that Wisconsin will score.

Through the efforts of former Assistant coach Charles McCarthy, a new athletic advisory board has been established at Madison, called the graduate athletic council and composed of all the resident alumni who have been prominent in athletics. It will meet each Monday, confer on the lessons of the previous Saturday game, or upon other matters, and make recommendations to the coaches. Coaches Curtis and Cochems are opposed to the new wrinkle, but its continuance seems assured, nevertheless.

QUAIL ARE THE FARMERS' FRIEND

Birds Eat Thousands of Destroying Insects—State Law is Blessing to Crops.

The effort in Wisconsin to protect the quail and multiply its numbers is worth while. Careful investigation has recently been made, and it is found that this bird is one of the most important in the United States for the farmer. It is high time to stop the sportsmen from finding his fun at the expense of the workman. A letter from one of our most sensible ornithologists, says the New York Tribune Farmer says: "Why don't you say more about the quail when you talk about birds as farmers' friends? In my judgment, there ought to be a combined effort to bring this bird back into co-operation with agriculture." An Oklahoma paper says that a farmer, fond of his gun, and in the habit of shooting quail, brought in three for supper. Noting the fullness of their craws, his curiosity was awakened to examine the contents. Opening one he counted over 400 dead chinch bugs. He adds: "I just cleaned up the run and have not shot a bird since. Now, if you will come down to my place you will see that the birds have found this out, and they are working heart and claw to help me out in my problem with insects. They are absolutely invaluable." The quail is the best bird in the list.

TO FINISH YEAR ON THE GRIDIRON

No Thought of Disbanding High School Team—Beloit Altogether Too Strong for Janesville.

Though the Janesville high school team was defeated badly in the contest with Beloit last Saturday there is no talk of disbanding the team, and a schedule will be made for the rest of the season. The Fort Atkinson game that was to be played a week from next Saturday will probably be cancelled because the Saturday game put Janesville out of the race for the state championship and a game between Beloit and the Fort will undoubtedly be scheduled in its place. A game with Elkhorn high has been arranged for next Saturday and should result in a victory for the local eleven, though the team from Walworth county has the reputation of being good this year. It was thought by many that the team might be disbanded but each of the players and Coach Bartlett are determined to finish the season on the field, and if they do go down to defeat they are decided to go down "game." That there is not one in the team who is a "quitter" was shown by the way each man stuck to it Saturday, though there was hardly a shadow of a hope to even score and it was only by a great deal of persuasion that two of the men were taken off the field although they were in no fit condition to continue playing.

First Touchdown. From the time the Beloit man received the ball on the kickoff at the beginning of the first half, it looked doubtful if Janesville would win, but there were hopes even after the score that the local players might rally but they were vain hopes. The first touchdown was made in the first five minutes of play and Sheldon of Beloit kicked goal, placing the score even at this early period of the game at 6 to 0 in favor of the Line city aggregation.

Next Score. After the score had been made the ball was kicked off by Beloit and advanced for about twenty yards by Wright. Carle was tried in the next few minutes play in hitting the line from the position of halfback, Sennett being put in to tackle for the play. He hit the Beloit line hard and by main force went through for a good gain. At periodical times the play was repeated and each time for a good gain and occasionally he was sent around the end for his distance. The ball was lost and after a few plays Maltstad made a long run and was downed by Galbraith. Galbraith played back on the defense and though the Beloit runners continually broke through the line or got around the ends for long runs never did Galbraith let a man get by him; his tackling was a feature of the whole contest. Sheldon was sent through tackle from his position in the line for a touchdown and kicked goal making the score 12 to 0.

Lee's Great Work. The play-kick was kicked off to Janesville, who almost immediately were forced to punt. The Beloit man fumbled and here Lee fell on the ball. From then on he was a star player but his work was for the losing team. Repeatedly he broke up the interference of the visitors and tackled the runner. Ryan distinguished himself by a pretty tackle and was at all times a steady and stellar man on the defense. Maltstad of Beloit was tried again but Sennett had caught his signal as he has caught other signals and threw him back for a loss. On the twenty yard line a place kick was tried by Beloit but the quarterback fumbled the ball; Janesville gained possession of it, but was soon forced to punt again and after a few long runs by the ends and the halves of Beloit which were common occurrences. In the game another touchdown was scored and the first half ended with a score of 18 for Beloit and nothing for the locals.

Second Half

MR. ANTHONY HOPE. The fact that Mr. Anthony Hope, the author of "The Prisoner of Zenda," has called for this country to superintend the rehearsals of his latest book done into drama, "Double Harness," makes this celebrated Englishman once more in the public eye of America. Mr. Hope will be in New York for several weeks.

In the second half though the Janesville players were fagged and showed it, Beloit was held down to ten points and there was less ragged work and more straight football playing done from the kickoff till the end of the game. From the 45-yard line Carle tried a place kick which went straight but fell short by about six inches and only those who stood near the goal, which were few in number, could tell whether the ball cleared the bar or not and for a minute it was thought even by the Beloit aggregation that Janesville had scored. The attempt showed good judgment on the part of both Carle and Galbraith.

Two Men Out. It was an unlucky game for two—Wright and Ryan, both of whom had to be taken out of the game because of bad knees but it was not of their will that they left the field and only after the uselessness of their continuing to play and a great deal of persuasion on the part of the rest of the team and Coach Bartlett could they be carried from the gridiron. Connors, Saxby, and Woodruff were the substitutes put in and for awhile Connors seemed to be the life and backbone of the Janesville eleven. Woodruff and Saxby also showed that they could play when it came to football. Beloit crossed Janesville's goal line twice during the second half but Sheldon who had kicked so accurately the first three times failed in two easy goals and the final score stood: Beloit, 28; Janesville, 0. The teams lined up as follows:

Beloit	Position	Janesville
Moltstad	Feoley
Buckner	Mahoney
J. Wickham	Devins
L. Cunningham	Lee
Hamm	Gooden
Sheldon	Carle
Mattison	Ryan
Bedford	Galbraith
R. Temby	Sennett
Roadhouse	Caldow
L. Temby	Wright

GREEK MET GREEK AT EVANSVILLE

Janesville Reds Played Naught to Naught Game in That City Saturday Afternoon.

It was a hotly contested game that the Janesville Reds played at Evansville with a team in that city Saturday afternoon. From the time when the ball was kicked off at the beginning of the first half until time was called for the last time did either team cross the other's goal line, and the final score stood 0 to 0, which shows that each eleven was well drilled on the fundamental principles on the defense. Churm, Gillis, and the two Persall brothers were the stars for backbones of the Evansville team, and Mills, McLaughlin, Clarke, Jeffris, Allison and Hans put up as follows:

...LINK AND PIN... News for the Railroad Men.

Fireman Heagney is on 504 today.

Brakeman Ray Smith of the North-Western road met with a painful accident near Crystal Lake Saturday at midnight while returning on his run from Chicago to Janesville. He was standing on a box car giving signals and in passing a water-tank he was struck on the spot, which had not been put back in its right place, and been knocked down. It being dark he was unable for a minute to understand how the accident happened and it was with difficulty that he, clinging to the car, his lantern being thrown from his hand to a place fifty feet away from where the accident occurred. Upon examination it was found that he had received a fractured rib and internal injuries, the extent of which are not yet known.

While walking in the yards Brakeman King of the North-Western road stepped on a piece of coal and sprained his ankle. He is now able to be about on crutches but will not for some time be in condition to return to his work on the road.

MICHIGAN TEAM MAY VISIT JANESVILLE

And Spend a Day or Two Here Before Big Game—Beloit and Milwaukee Expect Them.

Both Janesville and Beloit are expecting to entertain the University of Michigan football squad, coach and trainer from Thursday evening of this week until Saturday morning. Rockford, Milwaukee, and several other cities are also entertaining the anticipations. Before big contests such as the one that is to be played between the great teams of Wisconsin and Michigan next Saturday, it is always the custom for the visiting team to make the intervening journey by slow stages of travel, halting in the enemy's country for a day or two at a safe distance from the scene of the impending battle. This is done to "acclimate" the players and relieve the monotony and weariness of travel. Whether or not the Ann Arbor men are to stop off here will probably not be known for a day or two. Landlord Sweeney of the Grand Hotel said this morning that he received an inquiry concerning accommodations last week but that no further word had come. Janesville, however, being little more than an hour's ride from Madison seems to be the ideal place for breaking the trip. It is expected that over a thousand Ann Arbor rooters will pass through here on a special Saturday morning.

PARTY LOYALTY.

The editor of Collier's weekly, a man who assumes to be wise beyond his day and generation, attempts to give some wise advice to voters in all parts of the country, talking for his text, "Vote for the best man."

He is a little undecided as regards the national candidates, as President Roosevelt is a little too strenuous for his delicate organism, and Judge Parker is so modest that he hardly knows where to place him, but so far as the governors of several states are concerned, he feels fully competent to advise.

In his opinion the people of Missouri should vote for Folk, regardless of party. He regards Mr. Folk as one of the greatest reformers that the nation has ever produced, but for gets to explain why the gentleman was not satisfied to remain in St. Louis and complete the work so ably begun under his administration as district attorney.

Mr. Folk is a politician, and if elected Governor by the people of his state, his office will be purely executive, and what he may accomplish will depend very largely upon the legislature.

In addition, the wise editor says to all voters, support Deane, because he has done so much for Chicago, and he will reform the state as Governor. He forgets to tell his readers that Mr. Deane is also a politician, and that for months the police stations of Chicago have been filled with men accused of crime, waiting for examination, while the reform candidate for governor is making a cross roads canvass of the state soliciting votes.

The situation in Wisconsin is so clear that the wise man from the East has no hesitancy in saying that every man in the state should vote for La Follette. He meets his ideal as a reformer and in his judgment he will revolutionize the nation during the next four years.

This doctrine of "voting for the best man," and ignoring party lines and party principles, is a dangerous doctrine, and is so regarded by all men who have the best interests of the government at heart.

The independent voters is a political orphan. He is a man without a creed and destitute of influence. Republics are governed not by individuals, but by parties, and when they cease to be so governed, they cease to exist as republics.

This nation owes its success to party loyalty, and if it continues to prosper it will be because of combined wisdom through party organizations, and not because of individual ability on the part of the "best man."

President Roosevelt is the leader today, and will continue to be for the next four years, not because of his personal popularity and strong personality, but because of the policy and record of the great party behind him.

There are occasions, but they are extremely rare, when men can afford to desert their party, not to vote for the best man, but to support principles which are vital to the welfare of the state or nation.

The free silver craze which struck the country like a cyclone, and under the leadership of Bryan threatened financial ruin, was an occasion of this kind. Party lines were ignored and men rallied from all parties, not to support the best man, but to preserve the honor and integrity of the nation.

Similar conditions exist today in Wisconsin. The state is under the domination of a faction which represents a conglomeration of Populism, Bryanism, Democracy and Republicanism, dangerous to the welfare of the state.

The conservative voters of the state, representing the business and industrial interests, recognize this danger, and are combining to defeat it, not on the ground of supporting the best man, but to preserve the state from disaster.

These cases however are rare. Every man owes it to himself to be a loyal member of some party and then to be able to give a reason for the political faith that is in him. Principles, not men are the foundation of government.

The Evening Journal, editorially, says:

We will tell you an interesting secret about Mr. Rockefeller—it has not been told before. If you doubt its accuracy, you can ask Stone, of Missouri, or half a dozen other influential democrats who were in charge of the party, when Rockefeller tried to get himself nominated for the presidency on the Democratic ticket.

It seems preposterous and unbelievable, yet it is a fact that John D. Rockefeller, only a few years ago, aspired to the presidency of the United States.

He approached the democratic leaders and asked them if there was any reason why he should not be considered available as a Democratic candidate.

"I have made all the money I want—which is a good deal. I possess a certain amount of executive capacity. I understand organization and I know how to make it worth men's while to do what I tell them to do. The ability which has done so well for me I think might do well for the country. If the country will give me what I want, I should like to be nominated for president by the democratic party. In return I will give to the democratic party my organizing capacity and the convincing influence of my financial resources."

Mr. Rockefeller was told by the astonished democratic leaders that the first flaw in his availability for the democratic nomination would be the fact that he wouldn't get any votes.

Mr. Rockefeller, who is practical and very wise, thereupon gave up the idea—at least for the time—and went on with his curious, aimless chess game of piling up necessary money and unused power through compound interest and complex dealing.

At the top of the voting machine under the head of "questions" will be found the primary lay. A little indicator separates the words "Yes and No." To vote "No" turn the indicator to right over the word "No."

The Edgerton Eagle takes a stand indeed. Roosevelt, La Follette and Andrew Jensen.

This question of placing lights on obstructions in the streets is something that should be attended to by the street commissioner, and enforced.

The sewer work goes merrily on. So does the campaign.

Congressman Cooper comes tomorrow evening. He is the republican representative of this county in the congress of the United States. Do not forget that, regardless of how he stands on state issues.

Mr. Jeffries seems to be doing some talking which counts up in Done county.

Tearing the lid off the state administration lets out an awful smell.

Congressman Hancock does not sleep on a bed of roses this month.

PRESS COMMENT.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Now that Walter Wellman has solved the political puzzle in this state to his own satisfaction we might as well proceed with the campaign.

Milwaukee News: It is interesting to learn from the chief game warden that deer are more plentiful than ever this season. The license money will come in mighty handy at this stage of the game.

If the truth is ever known about the state capitol and its sights of the past four years, then will many shudder.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Even amid the excitement and diversions of the campaign is must be a source of poignant regret to Gov. La Follette to realize that he had nothing to do with stirring up all the trouble in Manchuria.

Green Bay Gazette: In a recent political speech Bryan says: "I have been in politics fifteen years and expect to be in it thirty years more." This is really discouraging, don't you know.

Madison Journal: When we reflect that the supreme court did not say what it thought about the merits of the case, and was insistent that everyone should so understand, our rage is softened to a benign pity.

Racine Journal: Lovers of the chop suey who frequent the Chinese restaurants will read with interest that the Pittsburg agent of the Humana society thinks the cat population is being reduced in an underhanded manner.

Portland Oregonian: Nothing cut lessen the American craze for clubs, societies, orders, associations, organizations, circles, sisterhoods, motherhoods, brotherhoods, federations, unions, leagues, amalgamations—anything that can be joined. The Organization of General Slocum Survivors is now getting busy in New York.

Washington Star: If, as some philologists declare, the slang of today will be the polite language of posterity, the writers of the baseball and racing news should be careful to preserve their writings. They will rank as the classic models of the future, unless fate benignly wills that their prophecies are mistaken.

Boston Herald: What's helping Fairbanks in Indiana is the fact that Ave of the abject and shrewd political managers in the party in that state want his sent in the Senate. The vigor and enthusiasm with which these statesmen are working to promote Fairbanks can only be compared to the push of a hungry crowd around a lunch counter.

El Paso Herald: Prof. Jenks is back from China and says that his mission to induce China to change her monetary system, or rather to adopt one was entirely successful. This will be handy when the combatants in the Russo-Jap war begin the process of extracting expenses from poor old China.

Madison Journal: There is more literacy in Wisconsin than in any other state in the Union with the exception of Alabama and Georgia. It has grown from 3 to 13 per cent within the last few years. However, it is not a subject that interests that peerless statesman Bob.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: During the past seventeen years the number of depositors in the savings banks of the country has been doubled, while the deposits have increased from $2,335,247.37 in 1887 to $2,335,247.37 in 1902. It is estimated that one half of these deposits represent the savings of the wage earning classes.

Youngstown Telegram: What General Grant said about the democrats being like a man on the rear end of a train—never seeing a thing until he had passed—seems to be eternally true. The gold standard dawned on them for the first time at the St. Louis convention—several years after the republicans had established it.

The Retailer and Advertiser contains the following complimentary notice.

The Janesville Gazette, Janesville, Wis., sends out a brochure, which, typographically is really a piece of art. It contains some very good arguments in favor of the paper and gives many facts about Janesville. The 12 pages it contains are each printed on a different color of paper, stitched in a red cover. The Gazette is printed on a Webb Perfecting press, and, judging from the excellent printed matter they turn out, the plant must be up-to-date in every detail.

It Was Really "Still Life."
"There seems," said the chairman of the hanging committee to the young artist who had offered a picture for the exhibition, "to be a mistake of some kind here. You call your picture a 'still life,' but we find it to be a portrait of a man."

"Yes," the artist answered. "It's all right. There's no mistake."

"But there must be. A portrait can't be catalogued as a still life. You don't seem to understand that a person cannot be represented in a still life picture."

"Oh, but this is a portrait of a deaf and dumb man."

FOR WASHING FLANNELS.
All woolen goods like underwear and blankets are washed best with Beach's Peosta soap, because such fabrics cannot be rubbed, and hot water cannot be used. By soaking woollens in Peosta suds and rubbing the finer pieces between the hands only, good results are obtained.

HAS RICHMOND SOLD HIMSELF?

IS THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE PLEDGED TO GOVERNOR?

MATTERS POINT THAT WAY

Visits Madison, Makes Statement at Clinton—Documents Used by La Follette Men.

That the government is privately superintending the campaign against Senator Whitehead in Rock county is now apparent. Circulars which emanate from the La Follette camp and which are in part distributed by La Follette men, abuse Senator Whitehead and extol the virtues of R. M. Richmond, the democratic nominee, and it is broadly hinted throughout the county that Richmond has sold himself out to La Follette for the promise of the support of the administration in the county. The story gains credence from a hurried visit of Richmond to Madison on Wednesday last, when he is known to have met confidential agents of the governor. Further proof of this deal drops out at Clinton, where Richmond told reliable supporters of the governor that he would vote for the La Follette measures in the next legislature. This statement came upon request at one of his meetings that he define his position.

Pamphlet of Last Spring Copied. The strongest proof, however, is the pamphlet entitled "Whitehead's Official Record," which is being sent to the La Follette voters of the county and, after reviewing Senator Whitehead's record for the last four sessions, closes with the significant statement that R. M. Richmond is right on all these propositions. This pamphlet, word for word, is identical with the one sent out by the La Follette men last April when they attempted to defeat Whitehead for re-nomination. With the exception of the closing paragraph, and the form in which it is printed, it is the same document.

This attempted exposure of the senator's record appeared in the county ten days before the caucuses last spring. It was printed in Madison and sent to this city in large bundles for distribution. Charles Lush, an employee of the secretary of state's office, was here to personally superintend the campaign and used every means in his power to defeat the nomination.

Mailed to La Follette Men Only. It is considered strange that this document should again be put in use by the same men who originated it last spring, and this time to defeat for election a republican nominee, and favor a democrat. It also is considered singular that this document should be mailed exclusively to men who voted for La Follette delegates last spring, and to no democrats or conservatives, unless the La Follette men, and Richmond, understand, expect to hold the La Follette men in line by these methods. It will doubtless turn many democratic votes to Senator Whitehead.

Richmond was nominated for state senator by the conservative democrats, the men who are bitterly opposed to La Follette. If he has sold them out he is liable to turn them over to the republican county ticket, from state senator down. Before his nomination Richmond assured his supporters he was against La Follette. Letters to this effect are now on file and will doubtless be used against him by his former friends if the fight becomes more bitter.

Have Eighteen Hundred in County. When the republican caucuses were held last spring the La Follette men polled eighteen hundred, and a few odd votes in the county. This list was carefully kept. On it were some 600 to 700 democrats whom they are counting to still stand by the La Follette ticket. It is to this list of men that the pamphlets are being sent. No one else is receiving it.

For the major part the pamphlets are being sent out from Evansville where Mr. Richmond lives, but they are also being distributed quietly by La Follette workers in this city. It is known that but 2,500 were printed, and it also is known that the La Follette leaders were instrumental in having them printed.

Deals With Governor's Bills of 1903. The subject matter deals directly with the legislature of 1903, and treats of the popular election of senators, freight rates, the anti-trust bill, the co-employee bill, the grain inspection bill and the 2 cent passenger rate bill. The brewery bill also comes in for its share of attention, as does also the railroad commission. Senator Whitehead's vote on all of these is carefully noted and the documents closes with this significant statement:

"The Hon. R. M. Richmond, democratic candidate for state senator, is absolutely right on all these propositions, and can be relied on to vote and act in the interest of his constituents. He should, and he no doubt will, receive a majority of the votes and be elected to represent the people of this county. In the state senate for the next four years, let every voter who has his own interests and the interests of the people at heart see to it that he is elected." Whitehead asks election of Cooper. Senator Whitehead is continuing his tour of the county. He spoke Friday night at Johnston. Saturday he spoke at Milton Junction before the largest audience that has heard any speaker there this autumn. He made special reference to Congressman Cooper's reelection, urging it upon the voters to see that he was returned to congress, as he was needed there. The turnout for Saturday night's meeting of some 300 voters was most enthusiastic. When Fear spoke there two weeks ago he had but 150 hearers, and the majority of those were from neighboring towns.

The appearance of Congressman Cooper in the county this week is most anxiously awaited. He canceled his speech at Milton Junction this afternoon, being informed by leading republicans there that the farmers were busy to go to hear him in the afternoon. He will speak only at Edgerton, Beloit, Janesville, and Oxfordville, and will then go into Green county. His itinerary has been arranged by State Veterinarian E. J. Roberts. The county committee has not been consulted, and at Beloit Postmaster Ingersoll, who secured the votes of Rock county for Cooper last spring, was not notified of his coming until the fact had become common property.

Jeffris Refused the Nomination. It is not disputed that at the time of the republican convention last May, two days before the congressional convention, the Rock, Walworth and Kenosha county delegates came to M. G. Jeffris and begged him to announce his candidacy for the nomination, promising him their support. As they controlled the convention, the nomination was secure. Mr. Jeffris refused to listen to their pleas, his word and the word of his supporters having been pledged to Ingersoll for Cooper, and to Cooper they stuck despite the urgings of the excited delegates.

In no way has the La Follette state central committee recognized the republican county committee since the campaign began. The campaign literature received from the national campaign committee has been sent directly to State Veterinarian Roberts and Oil Inspector Conrad for distribution. These two men have made all the campaign plans, engaged all the halls and distributed all the Roosevelt and Fairbanks posters. Chairman McKean of the republican committee is authority for the statement that he has not received even a circular through the mail from the state committee, although it has announced it has sent each county chairman his share of national campaign literature.

TOO LITTLE TIME ON ELECTION DAY

THIRD AND FOURTH WARDS ARE OVER POPULATED.

TWO MACHINES TO BE USED

Will Be Necessary If All Registered Are To Vote for Roosevelt on November 6th.

This year the heavy registration in the five wards of the city show a decided increase. Particularly so in the Third and Fourth wards. This year is the first that the voting machines have been used. In consequence the precincts in these two wards have been combined into one and one voting place only will be in operation on election day. The voting places are open but 750 minutes during the voting hours. This means that in the Third ward with its 848 registered voters up to date the machines must register a vote in less than every minute they are open. The same holds good in the Fourth ward where the registration is 839. The total registration is 3,354 this year against a total registration of 3,115 two years ago, an increase of 239 over the last registration in total. It is ascertained that the present figures will be increased several hundred on the last day of registration, November 2.

Ward Too Large

Complaint comes from all over the city that the Third ward is too large. Extending from the city limits east and west it covers more territory than any other ward in the city. It should be divided. By dividing it would give the city a better representation on the county board, men easier and the residents of the ward could be better served by their representatives. It comes particularly to the front today when the question of voting the present registration list is discussed. Alderman Matheson stated this morning that there would be two machines in the booths of the Fourth and Third wards election day which would somewhat ease the pressure and that he had written for an extra machine to be in reserve on election day in case the machines prove a bit fractious. This will, of course, relieve the tension somewhat.

Study Machines

Everyone who expects to vote on November 8 should carefully study the machines so as to thoroughly acquaint himself with the mechanism. In order that everyone can have an equal chance to know how to vote intelligently they should visit some of the machines now on exhibition in either The People's drugstore, Smith drugstore, Connell's cigar store, the city hall or the voting booth at 53 South Academy street. This booth is open on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9. The machines are not complicated and can be easily understood but to save time election day they should be thoroughly understood. There is also some talk about asking the manufacturers to close down for two hours on election day in order to give the workmen a chance to vote. This matter will be taken up later. Meanwhile attention is called to the fact that another registration day comes Nov. 2, when those who are not registered must do so if they expect to vote election day.

CONDUCTOR WAS STRICKEN ON RUN

After his return from work last Saturday Gus Krager, conductor on the southwestern division of the St. Paul road, was stricken with paralysis and is now at his home on Center avenue in a very critical condition. All day Saturday he was not feeling well and when he reached home Saturday evening he remarked to his wife that he didn't believe he could have walked another block. He was assisted to a lounge where his family tried to help him undress. To-day he was unable to move his body to any great extent and had lost control of his right side. Mr. Krager is one of the most popular railroad men of the city and has been with the road for twenty-five years, coming here from Milwaukee two years ago. He is 45 years of age and has a wife and three children, two of whom are in the city living with him and the third lives with a former wife in Freeport.

LITTLE GRIFFIN BOY HAD A FOOT CUT OFF

Was Maimed for Life While Playing Around Railroad Tracks Yesterday Morning.

While playing around the St. Paul tracks in the vicinity of the roundhouse with another boy yesterday morning, little seven-year-old Eddie Griffin fell under some freight cars that were being switched in that vicinity and had his left foot so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate between the ankle and the knee. The accident happened just before eleven o'clock and the boy was at once taken to the Palmer hospital where he is reported to be getting along nicely today. The little fellow told the hospital authorities that his playmate was urging him to catch on the cars and when he showed unwillingness to try gave him a shove that landed him under the train. It is to be hoped that this story is an exaggeration. The boy is a son of Mrs. Maria Griffin, widow of the late David Griffin, who resides on Emmett street.

LEMPHAUSER, THE ROYAL CHEF TONIGHT

Stunning Singing Girls and "Little Brollers" Are All Here—Arrived This Noon.

Dave Lewis, "The Royal Chef" and his retinue of "little brollers" and dainty singing girls arrived in the city this noon and will doubtless be greeted with a big house tonight. "Four curtain calls for the first act, a genuine surprise to musical comedy enthusiasts in Gertrude MacKenzie's clear soprano, mellow as moonlight, in 'The Tail of the Tailless Frog'; Henry Leone the splendid singing Rajah of the Isle of Golong; Stella Tracey—dainty as a Dresden doll—these are some of the newspaper comment of the manner in which this company affected Milwaukee last week. "Stunning girls wearing stunning costumes and singing charming melodies" is the way the Milwaukee Free Press paragraph hits it off.

WAS THE JOKE ON THE BURGLAR?

Or the Police Force, or Wasn't There Any Joke?—Window Pane of Jenkins' Store Removed.

At nine o'clock yesterday morning Charles E. Jenkins called at the county jail and asked Sheriff Appleby to accompany him to the rear of his vacant store on Main street and investigate what he said he believed was an attempted burglary. One of the large panes of glass in a basement window opening on an area of masonry had been carefully removed and the broken pieces were lying near by. The sheriff and Mr. Jenkins discovered that the bolt on the door connecting the first floor with the cellar had been manipulated with a jack-knife and that the first floor door opening on the alley had been opened from the inside, etc. to allow escape. Mr. Jenkins believes that a burglar or burglars tried to gain the second floor where he lives but were unable to raise the trap door on which was resting a heavy barrel. He is at a loss to account for the motive of the marauders. If they were such, it has been suggested that two burglars made a mistake—that they were intending to break into either of the Rockstock stores which are located on each side of the one owned by Mr. Jenkins. Sheriff Appleby says that he shrewd burglars never make such mistakes. Acting Chief Brown and the other police officials said that the whole theory of burglary and thinks that somebody has been putting up a joke on them.

THREATS TO THROW BABE IN CISTERN

And Promise of Personal Violence by Stepmother, Alleged To Have Caused Maggie Collins to Flee.

While under the influence of liquor this morning Mrs. Hugh Collins drove her step-daughter, Maggie Collins and infant babe, out of her house on Bluff street and into the street. The mother with the babe of a few weeks in her arms sought protection at the city hall police station. She told the officers that Mrs. Collins threatened to throw the babe into a cistern back of the house and tried to strike her. When Hugh Collins, who is in the employ of a foundry, found this, his sympathy was entirely with the step-daughter. He said that his wife had been making a purgatory of his home of late and had broken no less than twenty plates hurling them at his head. The step-daughter and her child will probably go to stay with a sister who lives near the Hanson furniture factory. The child is the survivor of a pair of twins born about two months ago.

STRUCK ON HEAD BY SEWER PIPE

Street Car Shoved Big Junction Place on Jack Carl While He Was Working in Ditch.

Shortly after seven o'clock this morning a street car driven by Motorer John Chapin struck a large junction sewer pipe lying alongside the rail and on the edge of the sewer trench on East Milwaukee street and hurled it over the head of Jack Carl who was fitting pipes in the bottom of the ditch. He was felled to the earth, blood streaming from his face, and it was feared at first that he had been killed. Upon removing him to Dr. Farnsworth's office it was found that a four-inch cut had been inflicted on the scalp but that the skull was not fractured. Twelve stitches were taken in the wound and Mr. Carl was able to be on the street again this morning. Supt. Benson brought in a crew of Italians Saturday night to hasten the sewer digging.

HOME MADE BREAD. A lady told us today that she gave her little boy the penny saved each time on a loaf of bread when bought at this store, and that he made 35 cents last month. She only uses a loaf and day and maybe two loaves the next day. The day we had the 3d bread day, last Friday, the boy induced his mamma to buy four loaves, so he could make 8 cents. Here is a chance for every boy in town to make a dollar or more before Christmas to use in buying something he has been wishing for such a long time. Our price is 4c a loaf every day for white bread; never more than 4c, so the boys can figure out how much they can make each month.

THIRSTING FOR BLOOD OF MURDERERS OF BOY

Mob Demands Lives of Six Gypsies Accused of Brutally Slaying Lad of 4 Years.

Phoenixville, Pa., Oct. 24.—"Lynch them, shoot them, burn them at the stake!" These and similar cries sounded from an excited throng of over 2,000 persons that followed the officers escorting six gypsies to the lockup, arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the brutal murder of 4-year-old Michael Meyerski, found with his throat cut from ear to ear and a death bruise on his temple. The body of the child was found Sunday at noon hidden in the fireplace at an old deserted house one mile from town.

The child was kidnaped Friday afternoon on Star street by a strolling band of gypsies.

Never has a more fiendish murder stained the annals of Chester county, and the citizens are aroused to a frenzy of excitement. Only the failure of George Wahl, the boy who witnessed the kidnaping, to identify any of the men under arrest as being connected with the crime saved them from the hands of the maddened throng that followed them to the jail. Shortly after the body had been found George Wahl, who had seen the gypsies kidnap the child, informed the police that he had seen a dog at the gypsy camp at Williams' corner, about one mile out of town, which resembled the dog he saw under the wagon in which the boy was taken away.

Acting on this information, Chief of Police Carter at once made a raid on the camp. No resistance was made by the gypsies, and six were captured. They are Henry Wells, Robert Wells, Samuel Richter, Mike and Barney Dougherty and George Wolverton.

All the men arrested declare they know nothing of the crime.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Police in all parts of the country have been notified of the loss of $25,000 worth of jewelry by Mrs. E. P. Galt of this city, wife of the secretary of the Municipal Gas company, and daughter of Anthony N. Brady, the well-known millionaire gas operator. Mrs. Galt inadvertently left a small hand satchel containing the jewelry on a seat in the Grand Central station in New York city and did not discover her loss until her train, which makes no stops between New York and Albany, was well on its way. The satchel contained a diamond necklace, a diamond bracelet, a pink sapphire brooch and other valuable pieces.

No National Russian Drama.

It is curious that in a country so overflowing with loyalty, despite the Nihilists, very few of the stage performances have any national flavor, but so it is. An American resident of some time in Moscow says that during all his stay there did he see but one play with Russian characters, nor did he hear one stage song appeal to Russian sentiment as the "Bowery Girl" or "Dixie Land" appeal to popular sentiment in this country.

much as my son George does. It is good wholesome stuff, and will never fail to put the stuff into a boy out of which men ought to be made. You surely understand the wishes, desires and necessities of the boy of this, our glorious nation; and to place all this at the hand of each and every boy in the country, at so reasonable a price, is beyond my comprehension. Every father in the land should subscribe to "THE AMERICAN BOY." You do not believe how highly I prize it, and as long as we boys (George and I) are living, you shall not miss our subscriptions! I am very gratefully yours,
